February is “Living in the Country” Awareness Month

The Environmental Office with zoning, private water wells, private wastewater systems, and more, deal with all different kinds of country living aspects keeping you, your family, your fellow country folk, and your land safe.

Living in the Country

Have you thought of escaping to the great country life? Wide open spaces, fresh air, and the peace and quiet that comes with country living is pretty hard not to want. Kansas State University Agricultural Experiment Station and Cooperative Extension Service have come up with a wonderful guide to “Living in the Country”. From “Rewards and Considerations for Living in the Country”, “Buying or Building a Home in the Country”, to “Agriculture”, this helpful booklet has everything that you need to make the change to living in the country. The Ellis County Environmental Office has also compiled a Helpful Contacts list for everyone you may need to contact to help get you to your dream home in the country.

In the Next Few Weeks

Our office is going to add a new page to the Ellis County website to put all of the essential items for living in the country in one convenient location. All applications, the “Living in the Country” guide, and Helpful Contacts will be under one “Living in the Country” tab, so that you can get to your home in the country faster.

Thank you!

Our office would not be here without the wonderful citizens of Ellis County. If there is ever anything you would like us to improve on or just have a general suggestion, please contact us at the information listed at the top of Page 1.
